NATIONAL ARCHIVES MICROFILM PUBLICATIONS

INTRODUCTION

On the 225 rolls of this microfilm publication are reproduced the compiled records that give the military service histories of units in volunteer Union organizations. The compiled records are card abstracts containing information relating to the stations, movements, or activities of each unit or a part of it, and frequently to its organization or composition, strength and losses, and disbandment. Sometimes the names of commanding officers, the dates the unit was called into service and mustered out, the terms of service, and similar information are included.

The compilation of records of service by military units of volunteer Union organizations was undertaken simultaneously with the compilation of the service records of volunteer Union soldiers. The work was begun in 1890 under the direction of Capt. Fred C. Ainsworth, head of the Record and Pension Division of the War Department. The abstracts were made from original muster rolls and returns in the custody of the War Department and from rolls borrowed from the Second Auditor of the Treasury. The abstracts made from the original records were verified by a separate operation of comparison, and great care was taken to ensure that the abstracts were accurate.

Most of the compiled records reproduced on this microcopy are arranged alphabetically by State or Territory. The remainder are for units that were not limited to any one State or Territory; among them are the U.S. Colored Troops, U.S. Volunteers, and U.S. Veteran Reserve Corps. The records are further arranged by organizational breakdown under each unit.

Most of the compiled records for each organizational unit are in jacket-envelopes bearing the title "Record of Events" and giving the name of the unit. Many of the cards contain abstracts of the record-of-events information as found in original muster rolls and returns. Also included are some cards showing the exact captions of the muster-in and muster-out rolls that were copied and the certifications by the mustering officers verifying the accuracy of the rolls. The jacket-envelopes for a few units contain no documents but do contain references to other units with which these units were merged. In some instances the references concern transfers of documents.

Preceding the jacket-envelopes for the organizational units there sometimes are envelopes containing general notation cards giving information relating to the units. Some of the notations are statements of determinations made by the War Department concerning the service of the units; others contain information that was found in original records other than muster rolls and returns.

NATIONAL ARCHIVES MICROFILM PUBLICATIONS

There are some card abstracts made from returns that are not in jacket-envelopes. These abstracts were accumulated by the War Department to be interfiled with the regular abstracts but were not interfiled, for one reason or another. The usual reason was that the abstracts made from returns were compiled later than those from muster rolls and in some cases the War Department failed to complete the filing of them. The National Archives has collected all the unjacketed abstracts that could be found for each unit and has filed them immediately after the jacket-envelope containing related abstracts for the unit. A card labeled "Additional Card Abstracts of Records" has been placed at the beginning of each set of unjacketed abstracts to distinguish them from the ones that are in jacket-envelopes.

The National Archives also has compiled service records of the volunteer Union soldiers who served in the units whose service histories are reproduced in this microcopy. They consist of a jacket-envelope for each soldier, labeled with his name, his rank, and the unit in which he served and typically containing (1) card abstracts of entries relating to the soldier as found not only in original muster rolls and returns but in other original records such as hospital rolls, descriptive books, and lists of deserters; and (2) the originals of any papers relating solely to the particular soldier. In a few instances there are compiled service records for volunteer Union soldiers who served in units for which there are neither record-of-events nor general notation cards; consequently, there is no record of such units in this microcopy. These units generally served only for short periods (about 1 to 3 months) or failed to achieve a complete organization. There are card indexes that may be used to locate the compiled service record of a volunteer Union soldier. Most of the indexes and some of the compiled service records of volunteer Union soldiers have been microfilmed.

The compiled records showing the service histories of units in volunteer Union organizations reproduced in this microcopy, the compiled service records of volunteer Union soldiers, and the indexes to the latter are part of Record Group 94, Records of The Adjutant General's Office.

The Regiment removed from its encampment on Maryland Avenue between 10 & 11 Sts Washington D.C. by boat & rail on the 10 of July to a point (Clemont) 4 miles west of Alexandria. On the 14 at 1 o'clock we were paraded in light marching order, marched about 10 miles & bivouacked late in the evening. Next morning the 17, our march was delayed until about 9 o'clock when we proceeded New Kings Station to a point near Tanger Station, where we remained till next evening about 8 P.M. when we were ordered forward to within one mile of Centreville bivouacked that night and remained the next day in order for the Enemy (over) to get his batteries and troops arranged and to give Genl. Johnson time to unite his forces with those of Beauregard. Sunday morning (21) 1/2 past 1 o'clock P.M. were paraded in light marching order, marched two miles in about eight hours, then made a forced march to Bull Run. as we arrived near the ground the organized troops told us to hurry on that they had driven the enemy from one to 2 miles. It surprised us that every one seemed to have got through, we entered upon the field rifles & cannon balls and musketry amidst much careless firing on the part of the enemy and were directed to form line of battle which was done and we fired until the pieces became heated and that portion of the enemy which was receiving our shot retreated when the order was given to cease firing. A march by the right flank and then a file right which would have brought the Regiment off the field if the order had been understood by the whole Regt. and obeyed. As it was we came off in tolerable good order and formed. When we received orders to retreat on Centreville which was attempted to be done in good order, but the passage of cannon wagons &c. threw us out of the road broke our ranks so that under the circumstances no order could have been preserved if no enemy had been near us. We retreated to our old Camp Ground within about two hours, and were then ordered to retreat on Alexandria which was done, resting about two hours at Fairfax Cts.

RECORD OF EVENTS.

This image shows a single sheet of white paper with horizontal blue or grey ruling lines. The lines are evenly spaced and run across the width of the page. There are no margins, text, or other markings on the paper.

1. The first step is to identify the problem or question that needs to be addressed. This involves understanding the context and the specific requirements of the task.

2. Next, it is essential to gather relevant information and data. This can be done through research, consultation with experts, or by analyzing existing resources.

3. Once the information is gathered, the next step is to analyze it and identify the key factors that influence the outcome. This often involves breaking down the problem into smaller, more manageable parts.

4. After analysis, a plan or strategy should be developed. This plan should outline the steps that need to be taken to solve the problem, taking into account the resources available and the potential challenges.

5. The final step is to implement the plan and monitor the progress. This involves putting the plan into action and regularly checking the results to ensure that the problem is being solved effectively.

6. If the results are not as expected, it may be necessary to adjust the plan or strategy. This is a continuous process, and it is important to remain flexible and open to change.

7. Finally, once the problem has been solved, it is important to evaluate the solution and the process used to reach it. This can help to identify areas for improvement and ensure that the same problem does not recur in the future.
